Dear Colleagues,

SAA's 81st Annual Meeting is almost upon us! We are excited to be hosting this year's annual meeting in Orlando, Florida, "The City Beautiful," April 6–10, 2016. With an exciting array of papers, posters, and forums, the 2016 meeting promises to deliver a vibrant scholarly program as well as a host of other activities!

This year's meeting will open Wednesday night with my first President's Forum, "Climate Change and Archaeology." This forum will examine climate change from several perspectives. Speakers will survey models from climate science; past climate change effects on human societies; archaeological remains as proxy climate records; climate change and plant domestication; and archaeological heritage management in times of climate change. The forum is organized by Daniel Sandweiss. I hope you will join us for this special event.

In 2016, the SAA Board will host the overwhelmingly popular student reception Wednesday night from 9:00-10:30pm. It is not to be missed and I encourage all students to attend.

I hope you can join us for what is sure to be a memorable meeting!

*Diane Gifford-Gonzalez, RPA
President*

FROM THE ORLANDO PROGRAM CHAIR

Dear Colleagues,

For the first time ever in its history, the SAA Annual Meeting will be held in Orlando, Florida. This annual meeting attracted the third-largest number of submissions ever! We are expecting an extraordinary meeting.

The meeting will kick off Wednesday night with the President's Forum "Climate Change and Archaeology," a timely and ever important discussion to which archaeology can make a unique contribution. Caribbean research, together with Polynesia, composes probably the most international and diversified group of archaeologists that can be grouped together, coming from the Caribbean proper, but also from South America, North America, and Europe.

Being SAA's Annual Meeting Program Chair is a time-consuming endeavor, but also offers a wonderful window for the diverse range of research being done in archaeology in the world today. Those of you coming to Orlando will be able to sample some of this. I am positive this will be a remarkable meeting.

*Eduardo G. Neves, Program Chair
Museu de Arqueologia e Etnologia*

FROM THE LOCAL ADVISORY CHAIR

Dear Colleagues,

Welcome to Orlando, The City Beautiful, in the center of the Sunshine State! Orlando was the hub of the citrus industry in the 19th century, became a mecca for tourism in the 20th century, and hopes to become a global leader in the innovation economy in the 21st century. SAA has arranged for several attendee-only discounts to facilitate your enjoyment of Walt Disney World® and Universal Studios Florida® should you so choose. SAA has organized a tour to the Vero Site (8IR09) to see ongoing work by Mercyhurst University. Other suggestions for activities independent of the meeting include exploring Downtown Orlando to see a mix of historic structures dating back to the 1890s and trendy dining options, or planning a visit to the Orange County Regional History Center, which also provides views of beautiful Lake Eola, one of the city's 100 lakes. And don't forget your sunscreen!

I look forward to welcoming everyone to Orlando for the 81st Annual Meeting of the SAA in April!

*Sarah Miller, RPA, Local Advisory Chair
Florida Public Archaeology Network*

Meeting registration is required to attend or participate in the 81st Annual Meeting. Advance registration is strongly recommended—you'll avoid on-site lines, realize savings on registration fees, and improve your chances of admission into certain ticketed events. Advance registration forms must be received in the SAA office no later than March 7, 2016. After that date, you must register on site, and on-site rates apply. Advance registrants may pick up a registration packet including their badge (required for admission to all SAA session space in the Dolphin, the exhibit hall, workshops, special events, and excursions) along with the tickets to those events requiring additional fees and tickets and a copy of the program at the Advance Registration desk.

Guest badges are available only to immediate family members of a registered meeting attendee (assuming the guest is a non-archaeologist). Immediate family includes spouse/partner, parents, and children. Friends and colleagues are not eligible for guest badges. Guest badges simply provide access to the meeting venue. Guests are not “meeting attendees.” Guest badges will be available through advance registration as well as on site. The SAA registrant must accompany the guest to register on site. Accompanied children 12 years of age or under are not required to display a guest badge. Unaccompanied children may not attend the annual meeting. No children may accompany attendees on SAA excursions.

Program participants were required to register for the meeting when proposals were submitted and should not pay the registration fee a second time. The Advance Registration form should be used by program participants to make reservations for events such as the workshops, excursions, special events, and receptions.

SAA Vero Site Tour

9:00am–3:00pm; maximum 45 persons; $29

Thank you to the Old Vero Ice Age Sites Committee (OVIASC) and Mercyhurst University for providing lunch and their support of this tour!

In 1913 the Vero Site (8IR09) was discovered shortly after construction of the town's main drainage canal through a low lying basin with three incoming creeks. Within two years, the paleontological site became a very controversial Early Man archaeological site. A wide range of plant and animal remains, including 25 extinct taxa, were found in apparent association with partial remains of at least five people. The very idea of Pleistocene aged humans in the New World was contentious with Ales Hrdlicka and Wm Henry Holmes leading the criticism of Vero. A who's who of early 20th century researchers visited the site through the 1930s. Yet the actual age of initial occupation of the site remains unknown despite the efforts of Elias Sellards through 1960.

Current excavations were initiated in 2014 after coring and trenching investigations demonstrated that intact stratigraphic sequences survived adjacent to the original locus of investigation and in other areas of the site. The unequivocal age of the site has been pushed from 4,000–7,500 years ago to about 11,000 calendar years based on an in situ flake from a large core from at least 130 miles to the NW. More intriguingly, thus far more than 500 fragments of carbonized plant and bone fragments, and a small number of charred clay pieces, have been recovered in place in well-defined strata bracketed by dates of 11,100 and 14,000 calendar years ago. These data indicate that there are multiple thin Pleistocene layers of anthropogenic origin on a low dune next to the aboriginal creek basin. A broad array of ongoing research questions and projects will be discussed during the tour.

Best Practices for the Curation of Digital Archaeological Data and Information

1:00pm–5:00pm; maximum 25 persons; $75 annual meeting student-attendees; $99 annual meeting attendees; $135 non-annual meeting attendees

Instructors: Francis P. McManamon, Jodi Reeves Flores, Leigh Anne Ellison

Modern archaeological investigations both produce and rely upon digital data: photographs taken in the field, GIS information, analytical and descriptive data sets, project reports, etc.

These new data add to an existing, although underutilized backlog of archaeological information, some of it in digital formats, some not. Without a well thought-out approach to data management, important information, whether in digital formats or not, will be overlooked or lost because it is forgotten, misplaced, or damaged. Good digital data management requires attention to the means of data storage, aspects of archiving data, how data are to be preserved, and the curation of data so that it is discoverable, accessible, and usable.

Participants will need to bring their own laptop computer with wireless capabilities and files (such as a report, dissertation, dataset, etc.) to upload to tDAR (the Digital Archaeological Record) as part of the exercise in the second half of the workshop. Participants also will receive a voucher for three additional no-charge file uploads (up to 30 MB) and a copy of Caring for Digital Data in Archaeology: A Guide to Good Practice.

This workshop will present information related to the background of data management, how good data management is organized, and tools and methods that they can integrate into their existing project and research workflows to ensure good management of digital data. Participants will be introduced to the types of digital repositories that are available and where they can browse, access, and download archaeological documents, data sets, images, and other kinds of archaeological information.

Archaeologists, whether they work in CRM, for government agencies, or in academic positions, can use digital repositories to store, organize, and promote their archaeological work. The workshop will focus on case studies and examples in tDAR. Participants will learn how to access and use resources in the repository and curate and manage CRM reports, data sets, photographs, GIS files, and other archaeologically relevant digital resources. They will also get a chance to curate their own archaeological materials in tDAR as part of this workshop.
